For Immediate Release

Former Bank Of America SVP Deborah Majewski To Join The Leon Levine Foundation

Charlotte, NC, September 6th, 2018– Deborah Majewski, former Senior Vice President at Bank of America, will join The Leon Levine Foundation (TLLF) as a Senior Program Officer in September.

Majewski will primarily oversee the foundation’s diverse portfolio of human services grants and manage the portfolio’s strategic growth as TLLF continues to expand throughout the Carolinas. As a member of the senior leadership team, she will analyze complex grant requests and direct a team of grants professionals as they review and assess proposals spanning TLLF’s entire geographic region.

Tom Lawrence, TLLF’s executive director, said: “We’re delighted to have Deborah join the foundation’s team. We feel confident that her insight and leadership will positively impact the trajectory of our human services mission area.”

A Buffalo, New York native, Majewski has lived in Charlotte since 1995. Her work history includes significant experience in financial services and consulting; since 2003, she has served as a senior leader in the Finance Group at Bank of America. She has also shared her vision and expertise with a number of nonprofits and philanthropic groups. Most recently, Majewski served as Board Chair for Women’s Impact Fund, a local grant-making entity that engages and educates women who seek to strengthen the community through collective giving.

About The Leon Levine Foundation:

Started by Leon Levine – the founder of the first Family Dollar Store in Charlotte, N.C. – in 1980, The Leon Levine Foundation’s mission is to improve the human condition by creating permanent, measurable, and life-changing impact throughout the Carolinas. The organization invests in nonprofits with strong leadership, a successful track record, and a focus on sustainability in the areas of healthcare, education, Jewish values, and human services.
